The Big Brother Scholarship – Terms and Conditions

Overview:

The goal of The Big Brother Scholarship is to provide support for a student who is in need of some form of mentorship in their lives. This support will include a $500 stipend, in addition to monthly mentoring sessions, to help students with either their personal or professional lives. These monthly mentoring sessions will broadly be focused around goal setting activities, in addition to developing the skills to establish a strong professional and/or personal network so that students can achieve their goals. The mentoring sessions will also help the mentor and mentee determine what professional/personal development opportunity will be best suited for the use of the $500 stipend.

The eligibility criteria for the scholarship is multifaceted, to ensure that a large number of students who believe that they will benefit from the mentoring sessions and the money can apply. Applicants will need to demonstrate a need for being mentored, in addition to a willingness to commit time to the scholarship program (outside of the monthly mentoring sessions) to pursue established goals that have been discussed through mentoring sessions. These goals will be focused on fostering the professional and/or personal development of the mentee. Students in years 10-12 will be encouraged to apply.

The Big Brother Scholarship also aims to provide all prospective applicants with an opportunity to gain experience with key elements of an application process. Prospective applicants will gain experience with writing a personal statement, creating a resume, getting a document certified, reaching out to potential referees and responding to written application questions. The process of applying for The Big Brother Scholarship will provide prospective applicants with valuable feedback and insights, which will help facilitate their professional development.

Justification and Conceptualisation of The Big Brother Scholarship:

Ananthan has been accepted into a PhD program at the Australian National University in Canberra and has been awarded an Australian Government Research Training Program (AGRTP) stipend scholarship, to pursue research in the field of neuroscience. As a result of this, he has decided to use some of this money to make a positive impact. This has led to the conceptualisation of The Big Brother Scholarship.
